

New Hut Warming

June 25, 2021 was a festive day at ONPA as we celebrated the completion of our new hut. It was a notable occasion for two additional reasons being we welcomed back the return of some staff stranded in Chuuk and also commemorated the completion of the Office of Inspector General – Department of Interior Lakewood Experience training.

We were fortunate to have Department of Justice Assistant Secretary, Anti Human Trafficking Services, Lino Amor and several national police from the Department of Justice (DOJ) building next door join the celebratory luncheon. A Department of Transportation, Communication & Infrastructure (TC&I) representative was able to make it eventually.

Public Auditor Haser Hainrick's speech expressed his utmost gratitude to TC&I for funding the construction of the hut. We are indeed very fortunate and extremely grateful. He acknowledged DOJ's remarkable work shown by their exceptional and prompt assistance repatriating our stranded staff in Chuuk. He also conveyed his appreciation to Assistant Secretary Amor and his colleagues for participating in the special event. Public Auditor affirmed that he wishes to strengthen our unity and comradeship with DOJ. The speech was concluded by asking for everyone's cooperation to please keep the hut clean and drug free. Assistant Secretary Amor thanked Public Auditor for the invitation and the opportunity for the get together. ONPA's CID Chief Investigator Kelly Samuel then said the grace. It was an enjoyable afternoon as we shared good food and pleasant conversation, a great way to end the week.
